Quality Teaching

Achieving the best possible outcomes for every student is our collective goal. Evidence-based practices of Learning Intentions and Success Criteria (LISC) are the cornerstone of authentic, high-quality practice, to make student learning visible.

We will achieve this by:

- Implementing differentiated practices expertly
- Delivering purposeful feedback, explicit teaching and assessment
- Empowering students as self-regulated learners
- Expertly using student assessment data to inform learning, teaching and assessment

High impact, evidence-based literacy and numeracy practices

A sustained focus on achieving high performance outcomes and increase in the number of student in the top two bands in literacy and numeracy will be achieved by:

- Building student competencies to be 'assessment ready'.
- Expert use of the NSW English and Mathematics Syllabus, and Learning Progressions, to plan and assess teaching and learning

Success criteria for this strategic direction
